

March Days

National Proofreading Day

Did you know that March 8th is National Proofreading Day? Neither did we. Now that we do, we'd like to take this opportunity to remind you about the University Writing Center (UWC). The UWC is a place where writing and speaking projects, even those outside of registered classes, can receive attention and assistance. Group projects, individual projects, job applications and resumes, brainstorming, and interview preparation are all opportunities to receive the specialized help offered by the UWC.

Visit <https://writingcenter.tamu.edu> for more information on the UWC BLCC Drop- in Center. You can also call the BLCC Writing Center at 979-845-4396. Hours of operation: Sunday-Thursday from 5:30pm-9pm.

National Working Moms Day

Saturday, March 12th is your chance to do something special for the working moms in your life. Choose a business to frequent that is owned and operated by a working mom. If you have a working mom in your house, offer to give them the night off by cooking a meal. You can completely avoid a messy kitchen by taking them out for a nice dinner. Small things, such as a hand-written note or card, can become keepsakes for the working moms in your life.

Source:
<https://nationaldaycalendar.com/national-working-moms-day-march-12>

Time for a Break

It's that time of year again. The much-anticipated Spring Break is drawing near.

Like you, we will be taking a little break this spring. BLCC's hours will be shortened during Spring Break, so be sure to keep this in mind if you plan on staying in Aggieland:

March 13	1-5pm
March 14 – 17	8am-5pm
March 18 & 19	CLOSED

We will resume our regular hours on Sunday, March 20th at noon. Enjoy your Spring Break and stay safe, everyone!

What's Going On?

The semester can get a little crazy at times, especially with everything that you need to keep track of, such as homework, exams, project due-dates, meetings, organizations, etc. Wouldn't it be nice to have a place of reference for campus events? Though we may not be able to help manage your daily life for you, we can help you keep track of events – at least those at Mays.

Did you know that the Mays Business School's "Events" page has an entire calendar filled with helpful information? Speakers, lecture series, application deadlines, information sessions, and more can be found arranged by month, date, and location. Look for yourself and see if there's anything to mark on your own calendar.

<https://calendar.tamu.edu/mays>

BLCC

Libraries Contact Information:

Evans: 979.845.3731
BLCC: 979.862.2111
Medical Science:
979.845.7428

BLCC User Services

We provide laptops, headphones, phone chargers, calculators, textbooks on reserve, and more. Come see us at the AskUs Desk for more information on items available to check out!

Reserve a study room online at the library homepage:
<https://library.tamu.edu/studyspaces>
and click on BLCC Group Rooms

Copies of the newsletter are available at the AskUs Desk or Oak Trust

<https://oaktrust.library.tamu.edu>