PREFACE

The Index-Catalogue of Medical and Veterinary Zoology is an index to the world's literature on animal parasites of animals, including man. The Catalogue is distributed to qualified individuals and libraries throughout the world without charge. It has been maintained in cumulative files since 1892. Only the Author Catalogue has been published in its entirety. A revision of the Author Catalogue of the Index-Catalogue of Medical and Veterinary Zoology, consisting of Parts 1 to 18, was published during the period 1932-52. Beginning in 1953, a series of supplements designed to publish the backlog was initiated. This was completed with Supplement 6, published in 1956. From 1956 to 1964, supplements covering authors A to Z were issued on an annual basis.

Beginning with Supplement 15, the Parasite-Subject Catalogues, containing indices to the author references, have been issued. The Author Catalogues of Supplements 15-21 continued the format of previous supplements. Users should note that for each reference in the Author Catalogues of these supplements the author(s) plus the date and letter (e.g., Smith, J.; and Doe, L., 1978 b) are the key to all items in the Parasite-Subject Catalogues derived from that reference. In other words, when using the Parasite-Subject Catalogues of Supplements 15-21, it is necessary to consult the Author Catalogue of the corresponding supplement for complete bibliographic information.

Commencing with Supplement 22, basic bibliographic information is included with each entry in Parts 2-7. It should be emphasized, however, that it will still be useful to consult the Author Catalogue for a variety of other information that may be found there: Title of the reference, translated title, language of text and summaries, issue date, library from which the original may be obtained, published corrections, related references by the same author, and other miscellaneous information.

Each supplement consists of the following parts:

- Part 1, Authors: A-Z
- Part 2, Parasite-Subject Catalogue: Parasites: Protozoa
- Part 3, Parasite-Subject Catalogue: Parasites: Trematoda and Cestoda
- Part 4, Parasite-Subject Catalogue: Parasites: Nematoda and Acanthocephala
- Part 5, Parasite-Subject Catalogue: Parasites: Arthropoda and Miscellaneous Phyla
- Part 6, Parasite-Subject Catalogue: Subject Headings and Treatment
- Part 7, Parasite-Subject Catalogue: Hosts

Users should bear in mind that this is an Index-Catalogue, not a treatise, and should not expect to find reasons for any given entry. Nor does citing of synonymy mean that it is necessarily correct. The same statement holds for hosts, locations, localities, authorship of taxa, designation of new taxa, etc. These items are cited as given by the author(s) of the publication being indexed.

The information included in any given supplement represents only the publications that have been indexed in that supplement; and therefore, exclusion of, or limited entries for, any given author or parasite has no significance. No pretension is made for completeness, and assistance in correcting errors or obtaining additional information is appreciated. Reprints of papers on parasitology are requested.

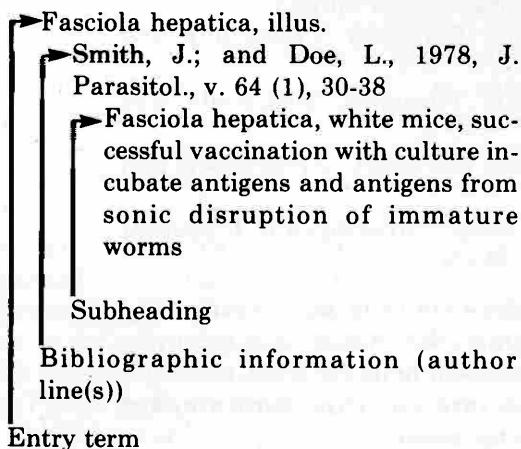

EXPLANATORY NOTE

Author Catalogue

The Author Catalogue (Part 1 of each supplement) contains full bibliographic information for each publication indexed during the compilation of that supplement. A symbol for the library from which the original publication may be obtained is given at the end of each entry, e.g., Wa, Wm, Wc, etc. A key to these library symbols may be found in Supplements 10 and 20. A list of serial abbreviations new to our files is published at the beginning of each Author Catalogue.

Parasite Catalogues

The Parasite Catalogues (Parts 2-5 of each supplement) are divided by parasite phyla (Protozoa, Trematoda, etc.). They are arranged alphabetically by genera, parasitic diseases, and higher taxa and then alphabetically by species within genera. Entries under each heading are in turn arranged alphabetically by authors and then chronologically for each author. Each entry consists of the name of the parasite or parasitic disease, the author(s) of the publication, date, abbreviated title of the publication, volume, number, inclusive pages, and a subheading. Illustrations of parasites are indicated by the word illus. following the name of the parasite.

A variety of information is found indented beneath the author line(s) of each entry: Classification, hosts, synonymy, keys, treatment, etc. Subheadings are guides to the subject matter of the publication.

(1) Classification: In entries based on systematic articles, the subheading may give the higher taxa in which the taxon has been placed or it may list the lower taxa included in a higher taxon.

(2) Hosts: The only hosts recorded are those that pertain directly to the author's own work. Scientific host names are used unless the author gives only common names, in which case the host names are given exactly as in the original publication.

However, when host common names are in Cyrillic alphabet languages, host Latin names are assigned and listed instead of the common name; these are in square brackets [].

Locations of parasites in or on hosts are given in parentheses (). Where a host-parasite relationship is well known, a host may be given under a parasite name and not in the Host Catalogue; this applies particularly to parasites of medical and veterinary importance and of worldwide distribution. A + before the host name on the parasite entry means that no host entry was made for this particular reference.

(3) Synonymy: Usually only those synonyms which the author indicates as new, or which are new to the files of the Index-Catalogue of Medical and Veterinary Zoology, are given.

(4) Keys: The subheading "key" indicates that the name is included in a taxonomic key.

(5) Treatment: When there are several antiparasitic agents mentioned in a publication, a general term is used in the subheading, e.g., anthelmintics, insecticides, protozoacides. However, in the Treatment Catalogue, all agents tested by the investigator(s) are listed.

(6) Geographic Distribution: When there are multiple hosts and geographic localities, the appropriate locality is recorded after each host name; when the hosts of a parasite are all from one locality, they are recorded as "all from" this locality.

- (7) Other Subject Matter: Phrases indicate other subject matter discussed (e.g., immunity, metabolism, morphology, etc.).

Subject Headings Catalogue

The Subject Headings Catalogue (the first section of Part 6 of each supplement) is an alphabetic arrangement of entry terms from a controlled list of subject headings. Each entry consists of the subject heading, bibliographic information, and a subheading reflecting the information contained in the paper. Subject headings with numerous entries are separated into alphabetized subdivisions, e.g.,

Immunity
Immunity, Agglutination
Immunity, Allergy

Treatment Catalogue

In the Treatment Catalogue (a section of Part 6 of each supplement), all entries referring to one antiparasitic agent are grouped under one heading (regardless of the name used by the investigator) and are then listed alphabetically by author. Other names for the same agent are cross-referenced to the name used for filing. When generic and chemical names are available, preference is given to those names as headings rather than to trade names or code numbers and letters. Code number designations for compounds are entered in the Number Index in numerical order and cross-referenced to the name under which they are listed in the alphabetical section. Salts of a compound are usually grouped together, e.g., piperazine adiphate, piperazine citrate, etc., are all listed under Piperazine. Sometimes verifying synonymy of drug names is impossible; consequently, groupings and cross-references are not always authenticated although as many as possible have been checked with reliable sources. In some instances, the cross-references are based entirely on information in papers indexed and verification was not possible. Foreign language terminology has been anglicized where feasible. Chemosterilants, Molluscicides, and Repellents are entered under these three collective headings and not under the individual chemical. The format is the same as the parasite entries: Entry term (in this case, drug name), bibliographic information, and subheading.

Host Catalogue

The Host Catalogue (Part 7 of each supplement) is arranged alphabetically by genera, common names, and higher taxa and then alphabetically by species within genera. Nominate subspecies are interfiled with the species. Entries under each heading are in turn arranged alphabetically by author(s) and then chronologically for each author. The format is the same as in the other Catalogues, i.e., entry term (in this case, host name), bibliographic information, and subheading. Indented beneath the author line(s) of each host entry are all the parasites of a particular phylum that were reported from this host in the paper in question. Body locations of these parasites will be found in parentheses () either in the subheading or with the host name. Experimental infection is reported as such. When there are multiple parasites and geographic localities, the appropriate locality is recorded after each parasite name; when the parasites from this host are all from one locality, they are recorded as "all from" this locality. When authors use only common names of hosts, scientific names are cautiously supplied from authoritative sources after careful consideration. Cross-references from the common name used by the author to the scientific name supplied by the Index-Catalogue are filed among the host entries. Such supplied names are given in square brackets []. If a scientific name cannot be supplied, English common names are used. Scientific names or English common names are always supplied for common names in Cyrillic alphabet languages, and no cross-references are made. Surveys of parasites of humans and domestic animals are often indexed under geographic headings and entered in Part 6, Subject Headings, in addition to appearing in the Host Catalogue. In this case, all parasite phyla are grouped under the same host entry, and individual parasite entries are not included in the Parasite Catalogue.

Visitors are welcome to come to the Animal Parasitology Institute to use the cumulative files. Arrangements should be made in advance for lengthy visits.

It is hoped that these Catalogues will serve as a useful tool to workers in the field of parasitology. Users are requested to preserve the Catalogues, since they are not designed for general distribution and the edition is limited.

The compilers thank the staffs of the Technical Information Systems of the Science and Education Administration, the National Library of Medicine, and all other libraries who have aided us invaluabley by making publications available to us.

Trade names are used in this publication solely for the purpose of providing specific information. Mention of a trade name does not constitute a guarantee or warranty of the product by the U.S. Department of Agriculture or an endorsement by the Department over other products not mentioned.

Amblyomma americanum

Krinsky, W. L.; and Burgdorfer, W., 1976, J. Parasitol., v. 62 (5), 824-825

trypanosomes, similar to Trypanosoma theileri-like forms in naturally infected Amblyomma americanum and experimentally infected Ornithodoros moubata (hemolymph of both)

Odocoileus virginianus: Cherokee County, Oklahoma

Amblyomma americanum

McMullen, H. L., 1976, J. Kansas Entom. Soc., v. 49 (4), 530 [Abstract]

Amblyomma americanum, mouth as site of water vapor uptake, possible mechanisms

Amblyomma americanum

McMullen, H. L.; Sauer, J. R.; and Burton, R. L., 1976, J. Insect Physiol., v. 22 (9), 1281-1285

Amblyomma americanum, mouth confirmed as site of water vapor absorption, movement of chloride ions traced in desiccated and rehydrated ticks, suggests possible role of salivary glands in water vapor uptake

Amblyomma americanum

Miller, R. M.; Price, M. A.; and Kuttler, K. L., 1976, Southwest Entom., v. 1 (3), 107-110

Amblyomma americanum, A. cajennense, nymphs feeding on Anaplasma marginale and Theileria infected cattle, attempted transstadial transmission to splenectomized calves, unsuccessful

Amblyomma americanum

Mount, G. A.; et al., 1976, J. Econom. Entom., v. 69 (2), 257-259

Amblyomma americanum, control with granules or concentrated sprays of diazinon, propoxur, and chlorpyrifos, drug efficacy: wooded plots at Camp Lejeune, North Carolina

Amblyomma americanum

Needham, G. R.; and Sauer, J. R., 1975, J. Insect Physiol., v. 21 (12), 1893-1898

Amblyomma americanum, salivary fluid secretion from isolated salivary glands, stimulating and inhibiting effects of various substances, mechanisms and control of glandular function

Amblyomma americanum

Oliver, J. H., Jr.; Murphy, R. W.; and Obenchain, F. D., 1975, J. Parasitol., v. 61 (4), 782-784

Amblyomma americanum, effects of mechanical and chemical stimulation on rapid engorgement behavior and subsequent egg development in unmated females

Amblyomma americanum (L.)

Patrick, C. D.; and Hair, J. A., 1975, J. Med. Entom., v. 12 (3), 389-390

 R. O., 1974, J. Med. Entom., v. 11 (5), 569-572 Amblyomma americanum, Rhipicephalus sangui- nus, Dermacentor andersoni, guinea pigs (exper.), topical chlordimeform highly effective as tick detachment agent (more effective against adults than nymphs) and caused a slow and incomplete kill of de-attached ticks (more toxic to nymphs than to adults)

Hypoderma

Younger, R. L.; et al., 1975, J. Med. Entom., v. 12 (5), 517-524

Hypoderma, cattle yearlings treated topical-ly with 5 juvenile hormone analogues, development of enlarged warbles with accumulated exudate, isolation of alpha hemolytic strep-tococci, no definitive changes in serum chemistry or haematological values, no acute toxic effects

Hypoderma spp.

Kolacz, J., 1976, Med. Wet., v. 32 (8), 468-471 Hypoderma spp., cattle breeding, effective control with efficacious systemic phosphororganic compound when given once at three months of age, mass treatment; individual treatment for infection in areas of low incidence

 Gentry, J. W.; Phang, O. W.; and Manikumaran,
 C., 1977, Southeast Asian J. Trop. Med. and
 Pub. Health, v. 8 (2), 214-216

Leptotrombidium deliense, L. fletcheri, survival of mite foci in experimental area that prevented entry of host animals or migration of mites, effects of weather on findings of study: Malaysia

Leptotrombidium (L.) deliense
 Gentry, J. W.; Phang, O. W.; and Manikumaran,
 C., 1977, Southeast Asian J. Trop. Med. and
 Pub. Health, v. 8 (2), 217-220
 Leptotrombidium deliense, L. fletcheri, influence of rainfall on mite populations in forest and grassland habitats, larvae were more abundant during heavy rainfall and simulated rainfall maintained larval populations for longer periods during dry weather

Leptotrombidium (L.) deliense
 Hadi, T. R.; et al., 1976, Southeast Asian J.
 Trop. Med. and Pub. Health, v. 7 (3), 487-489
Rattus rattus diardii: Ancol, Jakarta, Indo-

 Harinasuta, C.; Guptavanij, P.; and Vasuvat,
 C., 1974, Southeast Asian J. Trop. Med. and
 Pub. Health, v. 5 (1), 105-127
Rattus spp.
R. rattus
R. losea
 all from mangrove areas of Thailand

Leptotrombidium deliense Muul, I.; Lim, B. L.; and Gan, E., 1974, Southeast Asian J. Trop. Med. and Pub. Health, v. 5 (1), 80-84 Leptotrombidium deliense (known vector of human scrub typhus) found infesting very few mammals in areas surveyed for evidence of scrub typhus antibodies
Rattus muelleri Tupaia tana
 all from Sabah, Peninsular Malaysia

Leptotrombidium (L.) deliense (Walch)
 Roberts, L. W.; Muul, I.; and Robinson, D. M., 1977, Southeast Asian J. Trop. Med. and Pub.
 Health, v. 8 (2), 207-213

Leptotrombidium deliense, comparative determination of numbers of larvae on Rattus ar- gentiventer, R. tiomanicus and R. exulans in two different habitats, effects of weather on chigger population, implication of chig-gers as vector of scrub typhus in Peninsular Malaysia

Leptotrombidium deliense-group
 Traub, R.; et al., 1977, Proc. 15. Internat.
 Cong. Entom. (Washington, D.C., Aug. 19-27, Leptotrombidium deliense-group, ecology of chigger-borne rickettsiosis and murine typhus

Leptotrombidium deliense Walch
 Van Peenen, P. F. D.; et al., 1976, J. Parasitol., v. 62 (4), 653-654 hyperendemic focus of scrub typhus, correlation of chigger (Leptotrombidium deliense) abundance with temperature rather than with rainfall Suncus murinus
Rattus norvegicus
R. rattus
Mus musculus
 all from Pescadores Islands, near Taiwan

Leptotrombidium (L.) fletcheri (Womersley and Heaslip) Dohany, A. L.; et al., 1977, Southeast Asian J. Trop. Med. and Pub. Health, v. 8 (2), 221-226
Leptotrombidium fletcheri, life history of Rickettsia-infected mites raised through 5 generations under ambient temperatures of Malaysia compared with a colony reared at 27 C

Leptotrombidium (L.) fletcheri (Womersley & Heaslip) Dohany, A. L.; Phang, O. W.; and Rasmund, G., 1977, Southeast Asian J. Trop. Med. and Pub. Health, v. 8 (2), 200-206
Rattus tiomanicus: North Borneo

Leptotrombidium fuji
 Kamimura, K.; et al., 1972, Eisei Dobutsu (Japan. J. San. Zool.), v. 23 (2), 83-87 seasonal occurrence; outbreak of acute febrile exanthematic disease among school children, possibly Tsutsugamushi disease transmitted by Leptotrombidium pallidum
Apodemus speciosus Microtus montebelli
 all from Yamada, Toyama Prefecture, northern Honshu

Leptotrombidium (Trombiculindus) gateri Traub & Nadchatram, 1967
 Traub, R.; Nadchatram, M.; and Lakshana, P., 1968, J. Med. Entom., v. 5 (3), 363-374
Cannomys sp.: Loei Prov., Dan Sai Dist., Na Phung, Ban Nong Wai, Thailand

Leptotrombidium (Trombiculindus) hastata (Gater, 1932)
 Kundin, W. D.; Nadchatram, M.; and Keong, A., 1972, J. Med. Entom., v. 9 (6), 558-559
 Malaysian trombiculid mites, duration of attachment of larvae on laboratory mice and rats, data for estimation of population densities

Leptotrombidium (L.) intermedium Nakata, K., 1975, Eisei Dobutsu (Japan. J. San. Zool.), v. 27 (2), 189-194 trombiculid mites, seasonal fluctuations of larvae, difference of modes for attachment to rodents, incidence and number of species vary with vegetation types Clethrionomys rutilus mikado
C. rufocanus bedfordiae
Apodemus giliacus
A. argenteus
Rattus norvegicus
 all from Tonden, Sapporo, Japan

Leptotrombidium (L.) keukenschrijveri (Walch) Dohany, A. L.; and Manikumaran, C., 1971, Southeast Asian J. Trop. Med. and Pub. Health, v. 2 (1), 106 [Demonstration] trombiculid larvae, modification of ear-feeding technique for rearing using water to restrict movement of the chiggers and causing them to become attached more quickly

Leptotrombidium kitasatoi
 Kamimura, K.; et al., 1972, Eisei Dobutsu (Japan. J. San. Zool.), v. 23 (2), 83-87

Lernanthropus shishidoi Shiino, 1955, illus.

Pillai, N. K., 1964, J. Marine Biol. Ass. India, v. 6 (1), 61-83
Mugil cephalus (gills): Quilon, Kerala, South India

Lice, Body. See [Pediculus humanus].

Lice

Binns, C. W., 1976, Papua N. Guinea Med. J., v. 19 (2), 105-107 paraquat applied to beard and scalp by native New Guinean as cure for lice resulted in severe toxic reaction and death, case history: Papua New Guinea

Lice

Chamberlain, W. F., 1975, J. Med. Entom., v. 12 (4), 395-400 insect growth regulators for control of insects of medical and veterinary importance

Lice

Cummins, L. J., 1977, Austral. Vet. J., v. 53 (8), 406-407 [Letter] famphur applied to cattle during mating season for lice control, no effect on cow fertility

Lice

Dorsz, E., 1970, Polski Tygod. Lekar., v. 25 (5), 188-190 human lice and pediculosis, historical review of clinical care in the 16th-18th centuries in Poland

Lice (undetermined species)

Hadi, T. R.; et al., 1976, Southeast Asian J. Trop. Med. and Pub. Health, v. 7 (3), 487-489
Bandicota indica setifera
Rattus argentiventer
R. exulans
R. norvegicus
R. r. diardii
Suncus murinus
 all from Ancol, Jakarta, Indonesia

Lice

van der Heide, R. M., 1971, Nederl. Tijdschr. Geneesk., v. 115 (14), 607-608 relapsing fever in West-African native, evidence that infection had been transmitted by lice: Netherlands

Lice

Machel, M.; and Krynski, S., 1976, Ztschr. Ang. Zool., v. 63 (3), 299-305 lice maintained in laboratory since 1918, constant conditions for 30 years, comparison with 30 years earlier: larval stage shortened, temperature range for development reduced, body weight and amount of blood taken increased inhibited by chilling below 20° C, results suggest that either cooling destroyed attractiveness of the mating pheromone on female cuticle or an intermediate process (neuroendocrine) in production of a transient pheromone is switched off

Purnell, R. E.; et al., 1973, Isotopes and Radiation Parasitol. III, 139-144
Rhipicephalus appendiculatus (unfed nymphs; engorged nymphs; moulting nymphs; unfed adults), effects of irradiation assessed by evaluating subsequent performance of ticks when fed on rabbits (mortality, attachment, feeding, mating, egg-laying); effects of irradiation on Theileria parva in salivary glands of adult ticks
- Rhipicephalus appendiculatus*
Purnell, R. E.; et al., 1973, Ztschr. Tropenmed. u. Parasitol., v. 24 (2), 181-185
Theileria gorgonis, exacerbation in 4 splenectomized Connochaetes taurinus, failure to transmit to cattle by blood passage or via Rhipicephalus appendiculatus ticks despite establishment of parasite in ticks; exacerbated Anaplasma marginale infection in C. taurinus was successfully blood-passaged to calves; results indicate that blue wildebeest is probably not a reservoir for T. gorgonis but may be for A. marginale: Tanzania; Kenya
