Repurpose a LibGuide to Another Use

- Easy to copy whole LibGuide and modify for another audience
- Copy with content linked to original so updating the base guide corrects in child guides
- Both are public audiences so only include OA agricultural resources
- New guide aimed at high school students doing agricultural research papers

Electronic Publications and Books

The screenshot shows a Mozilla Firefox browser window displaying the 'Roscoe ISD STEM Rural Consortium' page. The browser's address bar shows the URL: guides.library.tamu.edu/content.php?pid=570161&sid=4701459. The page header includes the Texas A&M University Libraries logo and the text 'Research Guides'. A navigation breadcrumb trail reads: 'University Libraries > Guides > Roscoe ISD STEM Rural Consortium'. The main heading is 'Roscoe ISD STEM Rural Consortium', with a subtitle 'High School guide for Roscoe ISD STEM Rural Consortium program.' Below this, it states 'Last Updated: Feb 28, 2014' and provides a URL: http://guides.library.tamu.edu/Roscoe\_ISD. There are links for 'Print Guide', 'RSS Updates', and 'Email Alerts'. A navigation menu contains tabs for 'Getting Started', 'DATABASES', 'DATA & STATISTICAL SOURCES', 'Electronic Publications and Books' (which is selected), and 'WWW Agriculture Links'. Below the menu, there is a search bar and a dropdown menu set to 'All Research Guides'. The main content area is titled 'Selected Electronic Books, Publications and Working Papers' and features a sub-section 'Cooperative Extension Service and Experiment Station Publications'. This section contains a paragraph: 'The following list of links point to Agricultural Experiment Station and Cooperative Extension Service publications from each state on all subjects including agribusiness.' Below this are several entries, each with a state name and a URL: 'Alabama Experiment Station' (<http://www.aaes.auburn.edu/comm/pubs/>), 'Alabama Extension Service' (<http://www.aces.edu/pubs/>), 'Alaska' (<http://www.uaf.edu/coop-ext/publications/>), 'Arizona' (<http://ag.arizona.edu/pubs/>), and 'Arkansas' (<http://division.uaex.edu/publications.htm>), with an additional link (<http://pubs.uaex.edu/pubsWebuser.asp>) below the Arkansas entry.

The website header features the TAMU Libraries logo and the text "LIBRARIES TEXAS A&M UNIVERSITY OAKSearch". Below the header, there is a search bar with a "Search" button and a link to "Advanced Search". The main content area is divided into two columns. The left column is titled "What are Open Access Library Resources?" and contains text explaining open access (OA) and providing a link to the "libraries' main search engine". The right column is titled "Open Access Collections" and lists various collections such as BioMed Central, arXiv, DataCite, Directory of Open Access Journals, Hathitrust, Project Gutenberg, Public Library of Science (PLoS), Research Paper Economics (RePEc), and Institutional Repository at Harvard, Iowa University of California, and many others. Below the "Open Access Collections" section, there is a "Need Help or More Information?" section with links to "Learn more about searching", "Ask an Internet Public Library (IP2) librarian", and "Tutorial on teaching information literacy". At the bottom of the page, there is an image of a small green seedling growing out of a wooden spoon filled with dark soil.
